NORRIS GROUP MAY SUPPORT SMITH IN '28

Progressives Regard New Yorker Most Satisfactory Candidate in East

WEST STAND DOUBTFUL

Prohibition May Prove Difficulty in Al Smith's Candidacy Next Year

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1927 by Post Pub. Co.)
Washington—The interjection of the old-fashioned issue of "progressivism" which has in one form or another influenced many a campaign, has developed in the last few days as an important factor in the general political situation.

The certainty that the Republicans will name a conservative satisfactory to the business interests in the east has aroused certain western Republicans, among them Senator Norris of Nebraska, and Senator Norris of Nebraska. Both men are looking forward to an aggressive era in the next congress and an assertion of power.

It is significant that Senator Norris was quoted recently as saying that neither wetness nor religion should bar Governor Smith from serious consideration and that progressivism was far more important.

It is plain that the progressives regard Al Smith as far more satisfactory to them than any other Republican candidate from the east. Unless a third party movement is launched to give the progressives an opportunity to express their protest against regular Republicanism, the inference is being drawn that western Republicans of the progressive type will show their friendliness to the Democratic nominee if he is a progressive.

The friendliness manifested by Senator Norris toward Governor Smith arises from the fact that the New York governor has been arguing on the water power problem closer to the point of view of the Nebraska Republican than has any other Republican. In other words, men like Senator Norris who are absolutely dry on the prohibition issue, are beginning to regard economic questions as of greater importance in the long run.

This is not saying that the dries as a whole feel that way, as the biggest opposition to Al Smith's nomination comes from those who will not tolerate his attitude in New York state toward an enforcement act.

If the New York governor, however, makes an open pledge to enforce the law rigidly, it will provide a way out to some of the progressives who really would rather see him in the White House than a conservative Republican.

SITUATION CHANGING

The entire political situation is changing rapidly due to the fact that men like Secretary Mellon are taking an active part in choosing the Republican candidate. While it is true that former Governor Lowden has the friendship of the farm element of the west, the progressive Republicans are not at all sanguine that he can win the nomination against the combination of such states as New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and New England.

Indeed, the fight between the conservative east and the radical or progressive west, is coming to a head in the next congress, and it may leave its imprint on the presidential situation, too.

Senator Norris is sufficiently independent to support a democrat, if he feels so inclined, but the general impression at this time is that he is speaking favorably of Governor Smith in order to earn the support of the publican who they might expect if they allow big business to dictate the nomination at the next national convention.

1928 AUTO LICENSE HAS BLACK NUMBERS, ORANGE BACKGROUND

A sample 1928 license plate was received by police department Friday. The plate has an orange background and will be numbered in black. On the left side of the numbering will be the letter designating the class the car is in and beneath the letter will be the number. On the right side of the plate are the letters Wis arranged in vertical order. According to George T. Prim, chief of police, the new licenses may be ordered at once from the secretary of state but they will not be delivered for some months.

U. S. MAY HAVE TARIFF FIGHT WITH FRANCE

Act Prohibits Trade Treaties Without Equal Treatment for All Nations

Washington—(AP)—Apparently at impasse in negotiations for a commercial treaty to remove French tariff barriers against American goods, France and the United States Friday faced a difficult situation in their governmental trade relations which in the viewpoint of some American officials, verged toward the possible development of a tariff war between the two countries.

While it was declared at the state department there would be little delay in the formulation of an American reply to the rejection by France of the American proposal for the new commercial agreement, little solution of the situation was promised by the answer of this government. As the tariff act prohibits the negotiation of treaties on any basis in connection with tariffs except with equal treatment for all nations, this limitation upon the powers of the president is expected to prevent acceptance of the French proposal.

DON'T KNOW U. S. LAW
Although the Washington officials had no opportunity for detailed consideration of the note, astonishment was indicated by them that the French foreign office was not fully advised as to the limitations of the tariff act.

Although it was indicated the French government probably was unaware of the retaliatory provisions of the tariff act, which grants the president the right to impose penalties or even absolute embargoes against the imports of countries exercising tariff discriminations against American goods, it was regarded as certain no mention of these impositions would be made in the American answer.

But the possibility of the use of these penalty provisions was under seriously increasing consideration by Washington officials.

1,875 HUNTING LICENSES ISSUED IN OUTAGAMIE-CO

A total of 1,875 hunting licenses had been issued to Outagamie county sportsmen up to Friday morning, according to John E. Hantschel, county clerk. This is probably due, it was said, to the large numbers of wild ducks that have been seen in the county during the past week.

Mr. Hantschel said that although there had been almost as many licenses issued last year at this same time, that the number this year was comparatively larger because the deer season was open in 1926 and many sportsmen secured deer tags.

IS RUSHED TO COURT, GIVEN PRISON TERM

Sentenced to from 15 to 25 Years—Captured on Return to His Room

BULLETIN
Madison—(AP)—In less than twelve hours after he had been captured following a fight with police, John R. McClintic, 22, confessed robbery of the South Side State bank here, was sentenced to from 15 to 25 years at hard labor in the state prison at Waupun by Superior Court Judge S. B. Schein, Friday.

Sheriff F. T. Finn, with a private citizen driving the car and accompanied by Judge Schein, started immediately after the sentence was passed and commitment papers made out, for Waupun with the prisoner. They left Madison about 1:30 Friday afternoon.

Madison—(AP)—The "comeback" bandit, John R. McClintic, who after one attempt was successful a week ago in robbing the South Side bank of $2,200, was captured at 12:30 Friday morning as he entered the rooming house where he had been staying, previous to the robbery and walked into the arms of two patrolmen.

He was only captured, however, after ten minutes of fighting, in which the officers and three others who came to the aid of the two patrolmen and the rooming house owner, were injured.

McClintic was taken to the police station and held in a cell. He was charged with the robbery of the South Side bank of $2,200, and with the murder of the two patrolmen and the rooming house owner.

PERSHING WELCOMED AT PARIS LEGION REUNION

Paris—(AP)—General John J. Pershing and the leaders of the American Legion arrived in Paris at 4:40 Friday afternoon. They were greeted at the Invalides station by civil and military notables.

The headquarters of the American Legion convention Friday afternoon were taken by John J. Pershing, who was accompanied by his wife and daughter.

BUS DRIVER FINED FOR NOT HAVING LICENSE

Roy R. Riesenweber was fined $10 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Friday morning after pleading guilty to a charge of operating a bus without a license.

Riesenweber was arrested by Fred Arndt, motorcycle officer, Thursday afternoon. He is the driver of the bus that operates between Appleton and Sheboygan.

Coroner To Make Probe In Death Near Ashland

Ashland—(AP)—Bruises of an unusual character, discovered on the head of Allan Stahl, 45, whose body was taken from the water at Madeline Island Wednesday, Friday sent Ashland physicians to conduct a post mortem examination and a coroner's jury to review the remains as the first steps toward an inquest into Stahl's death.

The inquest probably will take place Saturday. In the opinion of one of the county officers who visited the scene of the death Thursday, Stahl could have waded ashore from the place where he is supposed to have drowned. Measurements of the depth of the water made by Sheriff Edward Dornady and District Attorney G. A. Johnson, conducted an investigation Thursday.

According to the story of Ernest Russell, who with his son, Bernard had been employed to help to gather rocks for building purposes, a small shift which had been loaded with stones, was swamped, while Stahl and young Russell were in it. Stahl being unable to swim, was drowned after an attempted rescue by Bernard which nearly cost the latter his life.

Measurements showed that the water was from 5 1/2 to 7 feet deep in various spots. The Russell home on the island was visited by the sheriff, and Ernest Russell and Bernard Russell were taken to the town hall and questioned separately. A stenographic report of the story of each was taken.

Investigation into Stahl's death started when Harry LaPointe, brother-in-law of the dead man, drove to Ashland and visited the coroner. He stated that feeling between the Russells and Stahl had not been of the best. Stahl was foreman for George Woods Lincoln, Neb., whose summer home is on the island.

Photographs of the boats and scenes were taken by the officials. The shift, full of rocks, was found on the bottom, where the Russells said it had swamped.

$40,000 IS CAPITAL OF NEW CORPORATION

Appleton Men Form Valley Milk Co. to Operate in Outagamie and Winnebago-cos
Articles of incorporation were filed with A. G. Koch, register of deeds Thursday afternoon by John Lonsdorf, district attorney, for the Valley Milk company of Appleton, capitalized at $40,000.

The firm will have its headquarters in Appleton but will deal in Neenah, Menasha, and in other places in Outagamie and Winnebago-cos.

The initial stock of the company is divided into 400 shares, worth $100 each. The company will buy, sell, manufacture and deal in, at retail and wholesale, milk, cream, butter, cheese and other dairy products. It will pasteurize milk, maintain an artificial cold storage plant and manufacture ice and deal in all other dairy products.

Members of the new corporation are A. W. Schneider, 1601 N. Morrison st., Appleton; A. F. Lembeck, 913 N. Fox st., Appleton; John T. Heif, 726 W. Eighth st., Appleton; E. F. Schneider, Dundas; Fred E. Hansen, route 7, Appleton.

JUSTICE ROSENBERY IS ACTING HEAD OF COURT

Madison—(AP)—Justice M. E. Rosenberry, senior justice to the supreme court, is acting chief justice as the fall term of the court swings into its heaviest portion of business this week, in the absence of Chief Justice A. J. Vinje, who is in northern Wisconsin for his health.

The chief justice, who recently returned from a trip to Europe, has been asked by his physicians to refrain from court work until about the first of the year and is expected to stay in the northern part of the state until then. Justice Vinje has served since 1910. He has not been in perfect health for some time. His term of service so far has been six years longer than that of any justice.

PASTOR'S SON WOULD BE PUGILIST; KNOCKED OUT—WILL BE DENTIST

New York—(AP)—Knocked out in two minutes and fifty seconds, William Lamance, sophomore at Centre college, Friday was bent on a career in dentistry, having abandoned ambitions to shine in pugilism.

His father, the Rev. William N. Lamance, Methodist evangelist of Paulsboro, Mich., brought one of his sons to the ring. Joe Sturino of New Rochelle, known as "Iron Horse," was his opponent.

At the start of the bout Thursday night William landed a few stout jabs but, with only a few seconds of the first round remaining, "Iron Horse" brought one around from nowhere to William's jaw and William went down and out for five minutes.

Which means that William will study dentistry, that being his father's choice of a profession for him.

WHITEWATER PROF IS GIVEN TRANSFER

Cotton to Assume Duties at Milwaukee—Decision Ends Old Controversy

Madison—(AP)—Prof. J. R. Cotton, who has been teaching English and public speaking at Whitewater State Normal school and one of the principals in the Cotton-Hyer controversy, has been appointed to the position of instructor in social science and debating at Milwaukee Normal school, according to the Madison Capital Times.

The transfer follows a long contest between Professor Cotton and President F. S. Hyer of the Whitewater institution. The argument was carried to the board of normal regents. Professor Cotton maintaining that he was discriminated against in the matter of salary and other things, because his views on politics and economics opposed those of President Hyer.

The board of regents originally decided that Professor Cotton had not been wronged by the president and the matter was for some time considered closed.

Recently, however, according to the newspaper, it again came to the attention of the board and it decided to transfer Professor Cotton.

EAST ALSO HAS RECORD SEPTEMBER HEAT WAVE

New York—(AP)—A hot wave that brought a record fatality and many prostrations in the east after causing more than a score of deaths in the midwest was given a short life in predictions of weather bureau officials Friday.

As the mercury jumped to 90 degrees New Yorkers reversed their complaints against a September of too much rain and too little sunshine.

The heat wave broke previous records for Sept. 15 in New York and other eastern cities, sending the mercury to 102 degrees at Washington, and driving President Coolidge from his work in the afternoon.

The unusual warm spell, after giving Chicago its hottest September in years and stirring the gratitude of western farmers who noted in the change the salvation of their corn crop.

TWO AVIATORS DEFY MENACE OF ATLANTIC

Princess Xenia Makes Splendid Start from Dublin Early Friday Afternoon

AIRMEN ARE CONFIDENT

Captains MacIntosh and Fitzmaurice Hope to Cross Ocean in 26 Hours

Dublin, Irish Free State—(AP)—Capt. R. C. MacIntosh in his plane, the Princess Xenia, hopped off Friday from Dublin on a trans-Atlantic flight to America. The plane made a splendid take-off getting into the air at 1:30 Friday afternoon, local time. It carried a heavy load including 720 gallons of gasoline.

Just prior to taking off Captain MacIntosh saw a black cat which he picked up remarking: "This is certainly an omen of good luck."

The plane carries a good supply of food and water. Captain MacIntosh announced that he would head for Newfoundland and thence to New York. Before taking off he said he expected to make the flight in 26 hours.

FITZMAURICE CO-PILOT
Captain MacIntosh's only companion in the flight is James C. Fitzmaurice, commandant of the Irish Free State air force, who succeeded Capt. Anthony Wrefoed as co-pilot. The latter was originally announced as MacIntosh's companion in the venture. Two fast airplanes of the free state air force escorted the Princess Xenia to the coast.

Just before starting Captain MacIntosh said: "With good luck we shall do it."

The fliers were in danger of being mobbed by admirers, who crowded about them and their plane to deliver them with congratulations on their luck and perseverance and their venture.

Fitzmaurice embraced his wife and little daughter and entered the plane. The crowd cheered lustily with loud cries of "good luck" as the Princess Xenia, named for the Russian wife of an Irish millionaire, gracefully took to the air.

Preparations to start the long flight, were made in a storm of protest, raised against trans-Atlantic flying. MacIntosh steadily adhered to his original decision.

"I am not going to throw away my life on anything which I do not think is feasible," he said. "We are just going to do a job of aerial development and expansion."

WAS WAR AVIATOR
New York—(AP)—Captain R. H. MacIntosh, who hopped off from Dublin on a trans-Atlantic flight, is 32 years old, was a world war ace, and a British Imperial Airways pilot. He has carried more than 10,000 passengers and spent more than 6,500 hours in the air as a commercial pilot. During the war he registered more than 300 flight hours in a bombing plane.

His plane, the Princess Xenia, is a Fokker T-4 with a 510-horse-power Jupiter six-cooled motor. MacIntosh estimates the plane has a flying radius of 4,300 miles. He spent over 300 hours in the air testing the motor before beginning the flight. The planes fuselage is blue and it has brown wings. It has no wireless but carries a collapsible rubber boat as a safety measure.

GERMAN PLANE READY
Cologne, Germany—(AP)—Flight of the Gotha to America by way of the Orient will start Saturday, rain or shine, he announced Friday. Count Solmslaubach will accompany him and a radio operator will also make the trip.

The tentative route follows that taken by the Pride of Detroit until Japan is reached. It has been decided to take a northern route, across the Pacific by way of the Aleutian islands and down the west coast of the United States to San Francisco.

FLIES TO NEW YORK

DEAF-MUTE HURT WHEN STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE
Miss Tillie Pater, 42, a deaf-mute, was injured when she was struck by an automobile driven by Willard Van Deraa, route 1, Kaukauna, at 7 o'clock Saturday morning on W. South land st. Van Deraa was driving east and although he saw the woman crossing the road he was unable to stop because his brakes wouldn't work, according to the story he told police. The woman was taken to the home of Mrs. George Kinzel, 112 W. Foster st., where she is being nursed. She had been on her way to work at the Telulah mill.

An examination showed that she sustained a sprained right ankle, sprained finger, several abrasions about her arms and body bruises. Attending physicians stated her condition was not serious.

VIADUCT COMMITTEE SEEKS INFORMATION FROM ROAD ENGINEER

Determined Effort Being Made to Lessen City's Share of Improvement Cost

A determined effort to get the opinions of all interested parties in the plan suggested to eliminate the proposed viaduct for E. Wisconsin-ave. which has been ordered built by the railroad commission, is being made by a committee composed of A. C. Rule, mayor, J. M. Schindler, city engineer, and W. H. Conner and C. L. Thompson, aldermen. The committee was at Madison Tuesday where they conferred with A. R. Mac Donald, railroad commissioner. The group went to Green-Island Thursday to discuss the problem with O. C. Rollman, head of the divisional department of the state highway commission.

The viaduct has been ordered built and the railroad commission will assess the cost against the city. Chicago and Northwestern Railroad company. The city, under the administration of Mayor John Goodland, petitioned several times for the viaduct pointing out that the crossing was very dangerous and should be eliminated. The highway crosses both the railroad and suburban car tracks at this intersection.

CITY WAS INSISTENT

Mr. Mac Donald pointed out to the committee that the only reason the viaduct was ordered was because the city was so insistent and he said that the former administration had proven conclusively that it was a necessity. He said that each of the three parties had been asked to submit a plan for the improvement but that the city had not complied.

The railroad company plan has an estimate of $125,000 but provides for a center pier. With the center pier removed there would be about a 40 percent increase, or nearly $170,000 in the estimated cost.

The traction company plan has an estimate of $97,000 but provides for carrying a capacity of from 10 to 20 tons while freight trains weighing in excess of 300 tons would be using the bridge. Mr. Mac Donald said. He declared this plan would have to be junked.

Mr. Mac Donald declared that the city would be assessed 40 per cent of the cost of the entire project and it would also have to pay for all property damage, which a liberal estimate placed at $25,000.

It was estimated therefore that the city's share of the cost of the viaduct would be at least $90,000. Proponents of the plan had thought the city would not have to pay in excess of $20,000.

First estimates submitted for the viaduct placed the city's share of the cost at $40,000 but, according to Mr. Mac Donald, the highway commission had agreed to assume half the city's share, a sum not to exceed $20,000. The commissioner pointed out, however, that if the city did not have this agreement in writing it would be very hard to receive state aid because of the shake up in the present road commission.

SEEKS NEW ROAD

The new plan, as suggested by Alderman Mark Catlin, one of the opponents of the viaduct ever since the plan was first proposed, includes a two mile stretch of road beyond the city limits on the north side of the tracks. The road would turn off just before reaching the intersection. At a point two miles north of the city a viaduct would be built over a deep cut, at a much lower cost. Mr. Catlin thought the city could get the highway commission, the town of Grand Chute, which would be benefited by the road, the county highway commission and the two traction companies to share the cost of the new project and it is believed the city would escape with a little or no expense.

By crossing the viaduct two miles outside the city limits, motorists would rejoin Highway 41. Mr. Mac Donald declared, however, that the railroad commission had made a decision on the matter and would not change its order. The viaduct order would stand, he said, unless evidence would be given proving that the new system would eliminate the dangerous intersection. He said that a plan for sharing the cost of the project also would have to be brought forward before the railroad commission would approve the new route.

The committee is seeking all the information possible on the new route and the matter is to be brought up at the next meeting of the common council.

TWO BADGER TOWNS ARE HOLDING CELEBRATIONS

Madison — (P) — Two Wisconsin towns, Mt. Horeb and Albion Center, are each holding celebrations this week. Albion Center's which began Wednesday night is attendant to the opening of highway No. 51, the new concrete road connecting Edgerton and Stoughton. Mt. Horeb's, which is a fall festival, will be held Friday and Saturday. The big event of the festival will be the crowning of the queen, Miss Marian Holman, Friday night. Other features of the Mt. Horeb festival will be a girls' doll parade, boys' Easter wagon contest, a tug-of-war, a hog-calling contest for men, a chicken-calling contest for women, and a rolling-pin contest for women.

Albion Center's ceremonies ran more to speeches than to contests, there being addresses by Senator George B. Blanchard, Edgerton, Mayor E. W. Drusman, Edgerton, and Mayor Sam Peterson.

BADGER CONFERENCE OF SOCIAL WORK TO MEET IN EAU CLAIRE

Civic Leaders Will Seek Solutions of Community Problems at Convention

Madison — (P) — Civic leaders will seek solutions to the many problems which confront their communities when they meet in Eau Claire, Sept. 27-28-29, for the Western Wisconsin conference of Civic and Social Work. The program, as announced by the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work here, under whose auspices the conference is being held, includes sections on family social work, poor relief, children's aid and child welfare, mental hygiene, boys' and girls' leadership, rural and community health, recreation, industry, and city planning.

Trained leaders in the various fields of activity will be present for consultation, but will confine their participation to discussions from the floor, instead of making set addresses. "This is not a speaking event," said Aubrey Williams, general secretary of the conference, "it is more in the nature of a civic clinic."

Miss Evelyn Johnson, assistant general secretary of the Milwaukee Family Welfare society, will lead a discussion on the various phases of family social work for communities of 5,000 and less.

Mrs. J. Williams Gross, Milwaukee, general chairman of the Children's Code committee, will describe briefly the work that is being done by the committee and what its aims are. Prof. Kimball Young, Madison, will lead the discussion on juvenile delinquency.

Harry D. Baker, St. Croix Falls, chairman of the children's code sub-committee, will present the report of the committee at a meeting which will be presided over by C. D. Lehman Sparta. Miss Harriet L. Gumm, Madison, members of the state board of control, will preside at a discussion of the housing problem of the institution for delinquent girls.

Day and Saturday. The big event of the festival will be the crowning of the queen, Miss Marian Holman, Friday night. Other features of the Mt. Horeb festival will be a girls' doll parade, boys' Easter wagon contest, a tug-of-war, a hog-calling contest for men, a chicken-calling contest for women, and a rolling-pin contest for women.

DEMOCRATS MUST FIND "KEYNOTER" BEFORE MEETING

Callahan Tells of Unsuccessful Attempt to Obtain Services of Speakers

Madison — (P) — Obtaining the services of a "keynoter" is the task confronting the state democratic committee before the date is set for the state convention that will select candidates for presidential delegates.

John M. Callahan of Milwaukee, chairman of the committee, said Friday that an attempt had been made to obtain the services of Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi but that he was unable to accept. Mr. Callahan explained that Senator James A. Reed of Missouri and several other prominent Democrats are ineligible because of the possible construction that might be placed upon their appearance. Reed is a supporter of the League of Nations and considered a presidential possibility.

Wisconsin democrats, Mr. Callahan believes, are overwhelmingly "Al Smith men" and in favor of the nomination of the governor of New York for the 1928 presidential battle.

No date for the conference has been set. Mr. Callahan said and the meeting may not be until late in the fall.

It is partially dependent upon the selection of a key note speaker. While the Democrats contemplated a state conference, interest in republican circles centers in the personnel of the committee of 11 charged with carrying out the mandate of the recent Wisconsin conference, and calling a state convention to select presidential delegates.

PUBLICATION TELLS OF NEW WISCONSIN EDUCATIONAL LAWS

Outstanding Change Is Law On Equalization of Opportunity in Elementary Work

Madison—(P)—Many new laws were passed by the last session of the Wisconsin legislature which effect educational work in the state. A synopsis of the most important ones has been prepared by the state teacher's association for publication in the next issue of the Wisconsin Journal of Education.

The outstanding feature of the state's educational program was equalization of opportunity in elementary education. The bill covering this was signed by the governor. Another bill provides for the care of physically disabled children.

The establishment of high schools has been limited to units with adequate assessed valuation. The state superintendent may authorize the establishment of a high school if the district has an assessed valuation of $1,250,000.

County high schools may be established by the county boards of education which have a population of not more than 12,000.

The tax commission is given power to inquire into the system of accounting of school districts or boards of education, and, upon request, to install accounting systems.

Boards of education are empowered to grant use of school buildings or grounds to any responsible organization for public meetings where admission is charged, the board to determine rental charges.

School clerks of any school district may employ some competent person to take the school census shall be held in commemoration of Washington and Lincoln in the afternoon of their respective birthdays, but school shall be taught in the mornings.

UNIVERSITY RECENT TO GIVE ADDRESSES ABROAD

Madison—(P)—Three lectures are to be delivered at the University of Heidelberg, Germany, by Robert Wild, Milwaukee, regent of the university of Wisconsin, when he becomes visiting lecturer during a European tour this fall.

Regent Wild, who is an authority on German history and German-American relations, will deliver the lectures before the student body of the famous old university. The lectures will deal with famous German-Americans coming to the United States in each of the great waves of migration from Germany to America during the second quarter of the 19th century.

For the first time of German emigrants of the 1820's, Mr. Wild has selected Francis Lieber, famous as an international jurist, and a professor at Columbia university, as an example. Gustav Koerner, once lieutenant-governor of Illinois, friend of Abraham Lincoln, and justice of the Illinois supreme court, will be portrayed in the second lecture as an example of the emigrants of the 1830's.

Carl Schurz, noted German-American journalist and political leader, in whose memory a German-American exchange professorship is maintained at the University of Wisconsin, will be the subject of the third lecture dealing with the great German migrations to America following the revolution of 1848.

35 NATIONALITIES IN STATE SCHOOLS

Madison—(P)—Wisconsin's half-million school children are of at least 35 different nationalities the state department of public instruction revealed today.

Notwithstanding the fact that many of the parents of those now attending 335 village, 143 city and 6,500 country schools have never enjoyed privileges in the lands from which they came and are largely engaged in earning money to pay for their new homes in Wisconsin, enrollment in the schools of children ten years old is 96 per cent of the total possible enrollment.

The ratio of illiteracy for the state for children between ten and fifteen weeks of age is but 2.4 of 1 per cent. The illiteracy rate for the entire state including all classes and ages is 2.4.

STUDY NOISE EFFECT OF OFFICE WORKERS

Take Samples of Work in Quiet Room and in Room Filled With Mingled Noises

Chicago—(P)—The effect of a city's myriad noises on the efficiency of office workers has become a subject for scientific study in Chicago. Over a period of a week, Prof. A. W. Kornhauser, business psychologist of the University of Chicago, and Dr. Paul E. Sabine, expert on acoustics and head of the Riverbank Laboratories at Geneva, Ill., studied a group of stenographers and other employees in a loop office.

Samples of work performed in a quiet room were taken. Then the girls were given work to do in a room filled with mingled sounds of the click of typewriters, whir of calculating machines, jangle of telephones, and noises of the street wafted through open windows.

Kornhauser approached the problem from the angle of business efficiency and Dr. Sabine from the viewpoint of acoustics. They will make their conclusions from an accumulated mass of evidence consisting of samples of office workers' efforts.

Dr. Sabine is carrying on work started at the Riverbank laboratories by the late Prof. Wallace C. Sabine of Harvard University.

The laboratory was founded by Col. George Fabyan, capitalist, whose hobby is acoustics. It is considered the most complete of its kind in the country and is purely an altruistic enterprise.

Fishing Loses Favor As Duck Hunting Approaches

BY E. A. CLAFIN

The opening of the duck season, this coming Friday, is an event that is eagerly looked forward to by the sportsmen each year. Fishing is somewhat at a standstill just now for that reason, although, after a few days out with the gun some of the glamour will wear off until colder weather sets in, and the northern birds begin to move down. It is really from now on, however, that the best fishing will be enjoyed, but for the time being let's talk ducks.

It is amusing to hear and read comments from those not too well versed in duck lore. They believe the birds now with us have actually come down from the north. The fact is migrant birds begin at just about the same time each year. When that time arrives, cold weather does to a certain extent accentuate their flight southward. Locally we get practically no northern birds until about the first of October. Then the Redheads and Lesser scaups, more familiarly known as "scaugh fall ducks", come straggling along. These are followed a little later by the Canvas-backs, and then the Greater Scaups, or Blue-bills arrive, followed in turn by the Golden Eyes, Wimmers, and Mergansers.

The Mallards, perhaps our commonest ducks, are with us now because they breed here, and, at the same time, they will be among the last to leave. In some sections of the country great numbers of these fine birds are annually shot after our waters are frozen over.

Speakers of efficiency in guns and loads—any full choked gun is efficient but certain loads seem to work better in some guns. The old powder-chase runs very much of high velocity loads. One thing is certain, however, if a bird is within range it will be killed cleaner with a hard lead than on excessive charge.

In the old days, when game was plentiful, we learned that we could do much better work with a load of about three drams of powder and one ounce of shot, than by using heavier charges of powder.

If the younger minded would use more judgment as to distance they would not only save money in ammunition, but they would actually bag more birds. They buy the so-called high power .45's and shoot at every bird that comes within range of their vision but not within range of their guns.

We learn that the Mallards are having out up about the Fox river they were there more up around Hickory Grove each morning, returning to

SIGNS HELP AUTOISTS, WHO DRIVE AT NIGHT

Boston—A leader in many safety measures, Massachusetts has again taken a forward step in installing safety devices, directional signs and route markers especially designed to aid night driving.

The new system has been in the process of installation for over a year and by the time the 1530 miles of state highways have been covered it will have cost the state close to a $1,000,000.

The system consists of nonluminous signs and markers erected so that they will come within the range of automobile headlights and be visible to the driver. The material in these signs reflects the light from the headlights and this more forcefully calls attention to the warnings.

At extremely dangerous spots along the road, self-illuminating signs are used. The signs are in different shapes to indicate a special type of warning.

The colors and shapes of these new night signs conform with the standards adopted at the national conference of Highway Commissioners held on the opening day, all over the world, in 1925 in Washington, at which time the joint Board of International Highway Builders adopted a system of international, informational and warning signs.

A cheap tube
can cost you
10 times its price . . . . .

THIRTY-NINE YEARS of tube-building experience has proved to Dunlop that "cheap tubes" do not pay.

That is why Dunlop tubes are made casing shaped. It costs a little more than to build them on a straight pole, as cheap tubes are built.

But a casing-shaped Dunlop tube is strong everywhere. The outside edge is not weakened by excess stretch. The side next to the rim has no wrinkles to crack with age and blow out. A Dunlop tube protects your casing, because it fits. And your casing is worth ten times the cost of the tube.

We strongly recommend a Dunlop tube for every casing

DR. PEABODY TO GIVE ADDRESS AT CHURCH MEETING

Three Official Delegates Will Be Sent to Congregational Conference

Dr. H. E. Peabody, pastor of the First Congregational church and conference moderator will preach the conference sermon on the opening night of the eighty-ninth annual meeting of the Wisconsin Congregational conference, to be held in Fond du Lac from Monday through Thursday, Oct. 3 to 6. Delegates to the conference will be elected soon, it was announced. Three official delegates beside the pastor will go to the meeting as well as a number of official representatives.

Dr. T. W. Wilson, superintendent of the Appleton district, will speak on the missionary offensive. Others speakers will be Dr. Howell D. Davies, Chicago, and Mrs. R. C. Chaplin, Beloit. Prominent churchmen of the faith are expected from all parts of the state, one delegate besides the pastor being allowed for each hundred persons in each church.

Two speakers of note will be on the program at a men's banquet the last night of the conference. They will be Dr. Charles H. Deale, pastor of Grand-ave Congregational church in Milwaukee, and Dr. Ozora Davis, president of the Chicago Theological seminary and moderator of the National Congregational council. He succeeded F. G. Harwood, Appleton, whose term as moderator expired in the spring.

ATTACK PROBLEMS
The conference themes are on a military basis, being styled "offensives." They relate to the Christian program for the future "attack" on the four great church problems as seen by the church officers.

Themes are:

Business Failures Are Becoming More Common

The number of new incorporations this year has declined to such an extent that it now approximates that of the normal pre-war period.

The number of commercial failures, however, has increased steadily since the middle of 1926 and has passed the peak established during the post-war depression of 1922. Seemingly it continues to grow.

The chart, prepared by the Cleveland Trust company, includes firms having capital of $100,000 or over, and shows that incorporations increased rapidly during 1919, while failures fell to a new low. This is attributed to the fact that business was good, conditions were easy and new firms sprang up overnight.

The lean years of 1921 and 1922 put the business ability of the incorporators to an acid test, however, and since then failures have mounted and the number of incorporations has declined.

MAILING OF FIREARMS IS PROHIBITED BY LAW

Warning that packages containing firearms capable of being concealed on the person mailed in foreign countries and addressed for delivery to persons or concerns other than certain exempted classes has been sent to postmasters of the country. If the packages are from manufacturers of firearms or bona fide dealers addressed for delivery to manufacturers or bona fide dealers they may be delivered provided the addressee has established his identity satisfactorily with the postmaster.

Mr. Alexander E. Matheson of Juneauville.

The youth offensive, led by Dr. Norman Richardson of Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill.

Devotional addresses will be given by Dr. Ernest Bourner Allen of Oak Park, Ill.

On Tuesday evening there will be an address by Ernest G. Guthrie, of Chicago City Missionary society, formerly pastor of Union church, Boston.

Full programs of the conference are to be sent to all churches soon. The Rev. C. L. Meares, La Crosse, is chairman of the program committee.

The Rev. Charles E. Reid, minister of Plymouth church is the conference host.

LOCAL PRODUCT HAS WIDE DISTRIBUTION

Hundreds of Scolding Locks
Hairpins Found at Old Maids' Shrine

Proof that Scolding Locks hairpins, manufactured in Appleton, have a very wide distribution is given by a local business man, who on a recent trip through the west, found hundreds of the local product hanging in the "Old Maid's Kitchen," a natural curiosity in Yellowstone National park.

The local man made a short visit into the country known as the Garden of the Gods and visited the Cave of Winds. This cave is a winding tunnel about three quarters of a mile long. In the cave is the "Old Maid's Kitchen." A long time ago someone started the "stunt" of hanging a hairpin in the kitchen. The idea was that if a woman who was not married hung a hairpin there she would be wed before the year was out. The cave is visited by people from every section of the country and on a space eight feet high and 10 feet wide, on one of the walls, hang thousands and thousands of hairpins. The local business man declared he found hundreds of Scolding Locks pins among the assortment.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bergelin of Stevens Point, moved to Appleton Wednesday to make their home. Mr. Bergelin will be in charge of the Fairbanks Tailoring Co., office on N. Morrison-st., north of the Volk building. The couple will reside at 218 N. Rank-in-st.

PREPARE TO EXTEND WOLF RIVER CANAL TO COMBAT FLOODS

New London Residents to Raise Funds by Subscription—Hope to Get City Aid

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Preparations are being made to continue work on the Embarras river valley canal in the near future. The continuation of the canal will extend on west from the Shawano-st bridge, north of the city. Preparations include the raising of subscriptions by petition and an attempt to secure use of some city funds for at least a part of the work. The canal already extends from a bayou of the Embarras river to the Shawano-st bridge and it is planned to continue it through the Jost farm, or farther. This will take the work through a rise in the ground to be excavated and it is stated that this part of the work will greatly benefit the district which might be in line of flood waters.

Work on the canal was begun shortly after the flood in the spring of 1922 when the entire north side was under water and great suffering and loss of property resulted. The line of the canal extends from the Embarras river on for a distance of about four miles where the flood waters will empty into the "Big Eddy." The canal is 216 feet wide and the construction work will be in the hands of the Embarras and Wolf river construction company, of which R. D. Rasmussen is president, and C. J. Thompson, secretary and treasurer.

OUTLINE GROWTH OF LEGION, AUXILIARY

Two Organizations Hold Joint Meeting and Hear Reports on Conventions

New London—The first joint meeting of the American legion and its auxiliary after the summer recess was held at legion hall Thursday evening. Reports of delegates to the state convention held recently at Marinette were read. E. G. Brown, local post commander, described the emphasis placed upon the fact that in actual constructive business the American legion has accomplished more than any other organization in the United States. According to statistics given at the convention, service men in Wisconsin is at the top as compared with that of other states. According to Ryan Duffey, state financial committeeman, in the past year Wisconsin legions have paid over $15,000 to meet their debt and are in the best financial condition since their organization. Much has been done through legislation and through the united effort of legion members for the disabled veterans.

AUXILIARY GROWS

Mrs. Arthur Lasch and Mrs. D. B. Egan reported as delegates for the legion auxiliary. According to convention reports, the American legion auxiliary is recognized as the largest women's organization in the country, numbering over 275,000 members, an increase of 17,000 over previous years. The legion membership totals 800,000. Wisconsin has 13,273 members, 247 units, with 18 new units organized during the last year, according to Mrs. Maude Cudworth, department president. The greater achievement of the organization during the past year was the raising of $2,000 in the state toward the flood relief fund. The national auxiliary raised $25,000 for this purpose.

The American legion auxiliary according to Mrs. Cudworth, is accomplishing notable work in the veterans hospitals, over $600,000 having been spent for service work in these institutions last year.

Following the reading of convention reports, Mrs. Ruth Manske, newly elected committeewoman of the Eighth district, announced the appointment of Mrs. Nell Egan, New London, as secretary of the Eighth district. Mrs. Emma Putnam, New London, treasurer, and Mrs. Eleanor Schweers of Shawano, chaplain.

The annual election of officers of the legion will be held Tuesday, Oct. 11 while that of the auxiliary will be held Thursday, Oct. 13. Mrs. Ruth Manske was invited to act as installing officer for the officers of the auxiliary. Pep singing and refreshments concluded the evening's program.

Koch of Reedsville, will preach the German service at 10 o'clock in the morning, and the Rev. L. Mielke of Shiocton, will conduct the English service at 2:30 in the afternoon. The church contributes toward the missions of the Wisconsin synod of the Lutheran church. Besides the work among the unchurched whites within the borders of its eight districts, this synod does mission work among the Apache Indians in Arizona and among the Negroes of America. A new field was opened lately, when a large number of Lutherans of German descent living in Poland, found themselves spiritually neglected, and appealed to the Wisconsin synod for help. The synod sends missionaries, and also helps financially, especially by supporting a number of young men from Poland, who are preparing to enter the Lutheran ministry in their home country.

AUTO PLUNGES OVER 20-FOOT EMBANKMENT

Six Occupants Escape Injury and Machine Is Only Slightly Damaged

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Disastrous serious injury by the narrowest margin, four adults and two children went over a 20-foot embankment of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad tracks east of this city in an automobile Thursday afternoon. Miss Gertrude Meertz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Meertz of this city, accompanied by her mother, her grandmother and Mrs. H. W. Scheld and two children Ellsworth and Alben, while driving about the city took the turn near the green houses of the New London Floral company which leads to the viaduct over the railroad tracks. Miss Meertz afterwards stated that she was not entirely familiar with the road and had forgotten that the turn to the left came so shortly after reaching the top of the viaduct. In her endeavor to negotiate the turn, she lost control of the car which left the road and overturned in the deep ditch.

Little Alben Scheld was thrown out of the car and was found with her legs pinned beneath the car's top. In such a manner that she was unhurt and easily extricated by her mother. Mrs. Scheld also was able to creep back into the car and shut off the ignition of the car which was still running. The motor which was only slightly damaged, the fenders being bent. The fact that the top did not cave in probably saved the lives of those within.

NEW GARMENT BEING MADE BY NEW LONDON CONCERN

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—A new union suit is being tried out at the local Modern Manufacturing company's factory on the north side. Samples have been turned out for trial and when perfected will be patent. This was made known in the recent announcement of George Ishby, manager of the factory. Mr. Ishby said that the factory now has about forty-five employees.

CLINTONVILLE BOYS GIVEN MANY AWARDS AT WEYAUWEGA FAIR

Between 200 and 300 Persons from Locality at Gathering Wednesday

Clintonville—Wednesday night well have been called "Clintonville day" at the Waupaca County fair, now held at Weyauwega, according to reports from several people who attended. The number from this locality was variously estimated at between two and three hundred, and several who were unable to attend during the day drove over in the evening for the picnic. "The History of Waupaca County" which was given on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, A. E. Hutchinson took a large class of boys in his agriculture classes to spend the day at the fair. In the stock judging contest in which there were probably forty entries, Albert Jackson of Clintonville won first place. Clemeth Hupke, second, William Jueds third and Clarence Huffman fourth. Guernsey and Holstein cattle were judged. In the grain judging contest Clarence Gehrt was awarded first prize. The three other places were won by Waupaca boys: the winning of corn, Albert Eggleston won first prize with a score of 97.5, Clarence Topp received fourth, Albert Palmer, fifth and Raymond Thauk, sixth. In potato judging James McCleone received fifth place.

Clemeth Hupke, with eight Dared Rock entries won first and second awards in the open class. The judge said they were the best pullets he had handled this fall. Clemeth also received first in the club class with four entries. Lawrence Delow was second in the club class on White Leathers James McCleone was given first prize for cockerel in the open class Buff Orpingtons. Clarence Huffman received first award for his Wyer lotter in the club class Harry Vanderwee won second on Black Langshans in the open class, and second on his Banded Rock trio in the club class. WAUPACA HOME IS BURNED TO GROUND; FURNITURE SAVED

Catches Fire from Chimney Sparks; Lack of Water Handicaps Firemen

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—A farmhouse located two and one half miles west of Waupaca burned to the ground Thursday. It is believed the fire started from sparks from the chimney and spread so rapidly that by the time help was called the whole building was in flames. The Waupaca fire department was called but owing to the lack of water were unable to extinguish the flames. All furniture and household goods were saved. Owing to the favorable direction of the wind none of the other farm buildings caught fire. The loss is covered partially by insurance.

The house was located on the property known as the Pete Jorgensen farm but now is owned by Melvin Moran, Neenah. The La Sage family were occupying the place for the summer.

Odd Fellows Of District Hold Meet

About 20 members of Konomie lodge of Odd Fellows will go to Stockbridge Saturday evening to attend the meeting of District No. 19. The Menasha lodge will confer the first degree on a class of candidates and general district business will be discussed. A report of the work on each lodge in the district will be given after which a social will be held.

Lodges in District No. 19 include those from Stockbridge, Appleton, Kaukauna, Menasha and three lodges from Oshkosh.

Plans probably will be discussed for the joint meeting of District 20 to be held Oct. 15 at Stockbridge. Paul C. Meier of Webster, grand master, will be present at the meeting.

A special meeting of district officers and district deputies will be held with the grand master at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Members of the two district organizations will meet at 8 o'clock in the evening when Mr. Meier will give an address. A program will probably be arranged for the evening. Lunch will be served after the meeting.

Lodges included in District 20 are those from Manitowoc, Two Rivers, Chilton and Brillion.

Y. M. C. A. HOLDS OPEN HOUSE FOR FRESHMEN

Sixty members of the incoming freshman class of Lawrence college and twelve upper classmen were guests at an entertainment and open house, Thursday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A., sponsored jointly by the Appleton and college associations. The entertainment started at 3 o'clock and ended at 6. Elmer Ott, Kaukauna, is president of the college association.

Mark S. Catlin, Lawrence, football coach, talked to the guests in the gymnasium, urging them to study diligently to keep up to the scholastic requirements so that they might be eligible for athletics. He emphasized the fact that a good start is of great value in a college career and that the first year should be the biggest.

The talk was followed by group games in the gymnasium and the boys were allowed to use the bowling alley, billiard and pool tables and swimming pool free of charge. It was the official fall opening of the association alleys. Fifty took advantage of the use of the swimming pool.

PARTIES

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

The pointer for today is: WITHOUT SIDE STRENGTH A FIVE-CARD ACE-QUEEN-JACK SUIT SHOULD BE BID; BUT A FIVE-CARD ACE-QUEEN-TEN SUIT SHOULD BE PASSED.

This week we are considering twenty hands, all supposed to be held by a Dealer. Today's hands are:

NO. 13	NO. 14
♠ A-Q-J-X-X	♠ A-Q-X-X-X
♥ X-X-X	♥ X-X-X
♦ X-X-X	♦ X-X-X
♣ X-X	♣ Q-X
NO. 15	NO. 16
♠ A-Q-X-X-X	♠ A-Q-X-X-X
♥ X-X-X	♥ X-X-X
♦ X-X-X	♦ Q-X-X
♣ K-X	♣ K-X

No. 13. One Spade. This type of hand is one that for years was the subject of expert discussion. At first the bid was generally disapproved; but it was found to be so valuable as a lead-director and also as a help for partner's declaration, that the Ace-Queen-Jack combination is now considered to be as valuable as, if not more valuable than, Ace-King. Any five-card Ace-Queen-Jack suit, regardless of whether it be Major or Minor, should be bid by a Dealer.

No. 14. Pass. Taking the Jack from the trump suit in No. 13 so greatly reduces its power that the side Queen in No. 14 does not adequately compensate. No. 14 does not contain two quick tricks nor the equivalent.

No. 15. Pass. Changing the Club Queen in No. 14 to a King in No. 15 still leaves the latter insufficient to justify a bid.

No. 16. One Spade. With this hand the Ace-Queen suit should be bid. A King and Queen, even though in different suits, possess the requisite strength to warrant an opening bid.

The next four hands to be considered are:

NO. 17	NO. 18
♠ A-Q-J-X	♠ A-Q-J-X
♥ X-X-X	♥ X-X-X
♦ X-X-X	♦ X-X-X-X
♣ K-X-X	♣ K-Q

No. 19

♠ A-Q-X-X	NO. 20
♥ X-X-X	♠ A-Q-X-X
♦ X-X-X	♥ X-X
♣ A-X-X	♦ K-A-X-X
	♣ K-10-X

Make up your mind today how they should be bid and watch for the answers tomorrow.

WEDDINGS

The marriage of Miss Crystal Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Collins, of Appleton and Wynn L. Bohnsack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bohnsack of Plymouth, took place a week ago Monday at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. D. C. Jones performed the ceremony. The attendants were Miss Gladys Miller of Neenah, Miss Dorothy Bohnsack of Plymouth, Miss Frances Skoff of Milwaukee, John Collins of Chicago, George Bohnsack of Plymouth and Irving Lutz of Appleton. On their return from a visit in Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Bohnsack will make their home in Appleton.

Announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss Madeline Brill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brill and David V. Weyenberz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Weyenberz, Appleton, was made at a bridge tea at Hotel Northern, Thursday. The wedding will take place Oct. 22.

Miss Jenkins' topic will be "What Price Success?"

Miss Jenkins has taught for several years, mostly in New York city, at Smith college and in the middle west. She was a charter member of the Brooklyn, N. Y. Business and Professional Women's club and was its president for two years, immediately preceding her coming to Madison. At present Miss Jenkins is a member of the American Association of University Women, the Woman's Club college, and a director, representing the business and professional women, of the Public Welfare association. On Sunday she teaches a class of university students in the Presbyterian Student headquarters. Because of the speaker's many qualifications, officers of the local club are preparing for a large attendance at the meeting.

In a recent advertisement of girls' underwear which was not the product of The B. V. D. Company, Inc. and which did not bear the red woven "B. V. D." label we referred to the trade-mark "B. V. D." This was an error as "B. V. D." is the registered trade-mark of The B. V. D. Company, Inc. which should not have been used to describe garments that did not bear the red woven "B. V. D." label. "B. V. D." is not a style or type of or descriptive term for athletic or other underwear. We make this correction in order to cooperate with The B. V. D. MANY NEW TEACHERS
AT STATE COLLEGES

Wisconsin Journal of Education
Tells of Changes in Badger Schools

Madison—(P)—Three new instructors are on the faculty of the state teachers college at La Crosse this fall, according to information which will appear in early number of the Wisconsin Journal of Education. Leon W. Miller, assistant in the physical education department, and assistant basketball coach last year, who will remain as full-time instructor in the physical education department.

Archie M. Jones, of Lincoln, Neb., is to be director of music, to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of J. A. Leeder, who has taken a professorship at Ohio University.

J. Russell Lane will coach class plays and direct the work in oratory and extemporaneous speak, as well as teach public speaking in the La Crosse school.

The Teachers college at Milwaukee will maintain a nursery school in cooperation with the Abraham Lincoln house, in connection with the department of kindergarten-primary education.

An experiment with a selected group of students is also planned by the Milwaukee school which involves a very radical change in the teacher training school. A group of approximately 25 freshmen will be placed in charge of Miss Mary Holmes for guidance through a series of experiences, all having a professional trend. These students, instead of being given a group of organized courses, will simply be led through a series of experiments having broad educational value and some bearing on the teaching profession.

Mrs. Mabel V. Lacy has been appointed director of the department for the training of teachers of the deaf. Mrs. Lacy was until recently head of the Territorial School for the Deaf and Blind at Honolulu.

Ted Cox, formerly athletic coach at the River Falls Teachers college, has been appointed head line coach at Tulane university. His place has been taken by B. L. Stanley of Notre Dame.

The fall term of the Supervisor State Teachers college opened Sept. 12. A number of new courses are being offered, and prominent lecturers from several universities will appear for special addresses. Among them are Miss Cornelia S. Adair, the newly elected president of the National Educational association, and Prof. William H. Kilpatrick of Columbia university. There are several new staff faculty members on the staff of Stout Institute at Menominee. Miss Ruth Michaels, a graduate of Stout, is director of the School of Household Arts. S. E. Paulsen, from Ohio, has charge of football and basketball coaching at Stout Institute.

SIX CITY ATTORNEYS
GET MORE THAN $3,000

Madison—(P)—Only six of the 144 Wisconsin cities pay their city attorney a salary of $3,000 or over according to a bulletin issued by the municipal information bureau of the University of Wisconsin Extension division. The six cities paying this amount or over are:

or Milwaukee, $6,300; Kenosha and West Allis, each, $4,000; Superior, $3,600; Madison, $3,300 and Racine $3,000.

In the following, eight cities the salary received by the legal advisor

Ralph Blanchard's thrilling story of aviators during the world war. "The Lone Eagle" is a picture that has attracted particular interest throughout the country because of the vividness with which it portrays the actual happenings of the intrepid flyers during the fevered war period.

The direction is by Emory Johnson, who made "The Fourth Commandment," now establishing box-office records wherever shown. According to advance notices, "The Lone Eagle" splendid supporting cast of screen surpasses even that sterling picture in appeal and heart interest.

The two featured players in the production, although virtually newcomers to the screen, have both already firmly established themselves in the public eye. Keane created an overnight sensation with his part in the Universal picture, "The Midnight Sun," and Miss Kent was recently chosen as a 1927 Baby Star by the Wampas, an association of motion picture publicity men.

The supporting cast includes Nigel

Barrie, Jack Pennick, Don Stuart and many others.

The PENNY PRINCESS

Copyright 1927 by M.E.A. Service, Inc. by Anne Austin

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Vera Cameron, efficient private secretary, consents to let JERRY MACIE, LYN, advertising manager for Peach Bloom Cosmetics, transfer her into a beauty, after she falls headlong in love with a man who ignores her. Jerry proposes to publish her pictures in the company advertising booklet. In rehashing her, the beauty specialist uses as a model a picture which Jerry finds in his desk. Vera is so lovely after the change that Jerry falls in love with her. He learns she wanted to be beautiful so she could go to Lake Mendota on her vacation to meet the man she is in love with.

At the summer hotel, Vera, nicknamed Vee-Vee, meets the man she came to see, SCHUYLER SMYTHE. He and the other guests mistake her for an ex-princess, the wealthy VIVIAN GRANDALL, who, after a divorce in Paris, has disappeared. Her attempts to convince the guests of her true identity are unsuccessful, and her dilemma is complicated when she realizes Schuyler is in love with the girl he thinks she is.

In her room, Vee-Vee opens a letter Jerry gave her just before his departure and learns that the unknown girl used Vivian Grandall's picture in rehashing her, and that he is fearful of the consequences. She goes ahead without further effort to convince people of her true identity. While she and Schuyler are in the garden, Nan surprises them in a sentimental moment. A knock at her door late that night startles Vera.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXI

"Oh, hello, Nan! Won't you come in?" Vee-Vee called her lips in a welcoming smile, but beneath her casual greeting her heart was pounding.

"Thanks, Miss Cameron," Nan Fossdick said brusquely, making no effort to smile.

Vee-Vee watched the girl's big, splendid body as it swung with a mannish stride across the room, to drop into the only straight chair. It was as if she scorned comfort for her body when her heart was writhing with angry pain.

"If only she knew how to dress," Vee-Vee thought pityingly. She placed a little flat round pillow of emerald green satin behind her head, choosing it instinctively because she knew that it would enhance the brilliant green of her eyes and contrast with the burnished copper of her hair. She was becoming a little more used to her beauty, arranged lovely settings for it almost automatically. A couple of months before she would not have given a thought to the selection of a pillow.

Nan Fossdick faced her big brown hands over her hunched knees, throwing the billowy folds of her pathetically unbecoming frock of orchid taffeta into awkward angles. Vee-Vee noted that she had had her straight, wavy black hair clipped in a harsh, mechanical marcel, that her small, black eyes glittered above patches of badly applied orange-tinted rouge. Poor thing! She had been trying to make herself alluring, feminine, in a tragic effort to compete with her rival's sleek, sophisticated perfection of beauty.

"Don't look at me like that—sizing me up, feeling sorry for me because I'm such a frump!" Nan Fossdick burst out.

"Dear Nan!" Vee-Vee said softly. "I didn't mean to look at you like that. Is there anything I can do for you? Though I hope you only came to pay me a call." She wanted to touch those tightly locked hands with tender, comforting fingers but she knew she did not dare.

"Yes, there is something you can do for me!" Nan Fossdick cried angrily. "You can let Schuyler Smythe alone! You don't want him! You're only playing with him, amusing yourself with a little fish because there isn't a big one in this puddle—not big enough for you anyway!"

"Nan, you mustn't talk like that," Vee-Vee spoke gently but firmly. "You'll be sorry tomorrow, hate yourself for having given yourself away to another woman. Let me order some tea and little cakes sent up—You'll feel better after a cup of hot tea."

"Feel better?" the younger girl snorted angrily. "I don't want tea—with you! Everyone here is bowing down to the earth before you, but I won't touch you, just because you have 40 millions and have been a princess!"

"Nan!" Vee-Vee interrupted sharply. "I've told everyone that all that is not true, that I'm just plain Vera Cameron," she went on recklessly. After all, why not convince this hostile girl, who would be glad to believe tennis together, swim together, rode together, morning, noon and night. He said he'd rather dance with me than any of the staid little fappers because I was so light on my feet!" she ended on a sob.

"Had he asked you to marry him, Nan?"

"Yes he had!" Nan Fossdick asserted violently. "And he's a liar if he says he hadn't! He asked me the Saturday night before you came, and I was going to tell my mother on Sunday. And then—and then—"

"And then I came," Vee-Vee supplied softly, but her voice sounded flat and dead in her own ears. "I asked him if he'd proposed to you, Nan, and he said he hadn't. But—I believe you," she added hastily as the girl started to make a violent protest.

"He—he didn't exactly propose to me," Nan Fossdick confessed, collapsing suddenly. "But he made it plain that he would if it were not for the fact that I—I was rich and he was poor. I told him that it was my own money—my grandfather left it to me unconditionally. I'll get it all—nearly a million dollars when I'm twenty-one."

"And that will be—when?" Vee-Vee asked.

"I'll be twenty-one July first," Nan told her more quietly. "Oh, Miss Cameron, if you knew how much it meant to me to find someone who wanted me, who loved me! Someone I could love, I mean." She added honestly. "There have been lots of men who would have married me for my money, but I didn't want them, and I knew they wanted only my money, not me. They didn't like to dance with me. They loved her voice, her eyes, her hair. She loved her voice, her eyes, her hair. She loved her voice, her eyes, her hair."

"Did he love you, Nan?" Vee-Vee asked in a level voice that concealed the panic that whirled her heart to frantic racing.

"He said he did! He—he simply followed me about everywhere I went—before you came. We played golf and and soft and fluttery like other girls. He said once that I'd make a superb mother—oh! The tears came at last, and the brown hands flew to the brown face.

"You would, Nan, you'd make a wonderful mother," Vee-Vee said softly. "Tell me, Nan, do you think he still cares for you, that he would come back to you if I left?" Her heart swelled with emotion. She thought then that she could make any sacrifice for the girl who crouched in grief before her.

"Yes, he would!" Nan sobbed, the words muffled by her hands. "He only wants you because you have oceans of money and a high social position."

"You believe that of the man you say you love? You can call him a fortune-hunter and still love him?" Vee-Vee demanded sternly.

"I don't care what he is, I love him!" the girl cried desperately. "And I want him no matter what his reasons for marrying me might be. He did love me! I know he did! Oh, please go away—"

"Nan Fossdick," Vee-Vee said slowly and sternly. "I want you to tell me the truth. The whole truth now! No quibbling! Did Schuyler Smythe ever say to you, 'I love you' and 'Will you marry me'? I want to know the truth now. I have a right to know, after what you have done—coming to me as you've done tonight!" Vee-Vee had risen, her fighting blood aroused at last. Why, everything, everything was slipping away from her, because her heart was soft, because she had not yet learned to be ruthless, as even this girl was!

She stood over the huddled girl in the chair, took Nan's chin between her fingers and tilted her face upward so that she could search those small, angry black eyes.

"He made love to me. He—he kissed me once," Nan stammered. "He followed me around, hinted that he'd ask me to marry him if it were not that I was rich and he poor—"

"So you proposed to him on Saturday night, told him that you'd marry your mother's consent, thought you knew she would be bitterly disappointed that you hadn't landed a man with social position. That's the truth, isn't it?"

"Oh, I hate you!" Nan jerked her chin away, sprang to her feet. "You know I know he wanted to marry me! Isn't that enough? I was a fool to come to you! I should have known that a woman like you would have no pity, no decency, when it came to men! As if you hadn't had enough in your time!" she flung over her shoulder bitterly as she plunged toward the door.

"As I see it," Vee-Vee said coolly, though she was trembling in every muscle, "we are two very foolish girls, making a vulgar fuss over a man, he has not asked me to marry him, and according to your own admission he has not asked you. I think we both must have the decency to let the man speak for himself."

"Then you'll marry him if he does ask you?" Nan Fossdick turned at the door to demand incredulously. "You! Against her will her voice was charged with the awe which everyone seemed to feel for 40 million dollars."

"I don't think he'll ask me," Vee-Vee said, knowing that her words would puzzle the other girl. It was true, she thought sickly. Schuyler Smythe would not ask Vera Victoria Cameron to marry him. He might ask Princess Vivian, but if he did—

Nan Fossdick's hand was on the latch when the electric bell thrilled. She flung open the door, revealing Mr. Ransister, dressed in the summer coat suit in which Vee-Vee had just seen her, in the hotel bus.

"Are you in, Vee-Vee?" she called in her cheerful, gushy voice. "I just popped in to say goodbye for a few days. My mother is at home. I've just

START TOPOGRAPHICAL SURVEY OF GOLF LINKS

O. C. Smith has been engaged by the city park board to make a topographical survey of south park in the fourth ward and prepare a report to be used in laying out the municipal golf course, for which $1,000 recently was appropriated by the common council. Mr. Smith started his work last week and will complete the same within another week, according to Professor O. P. Fairfield, chairman of the park board.

As soon as Mr. Smith's survey has been completed it will be submitted to the Chicago Landscape company, who will prepare plans and specifications for the municipal links. Bids for the work will be called for as soon as plans and specifications are ready and it is hoped that considerable of the work on the course can be finished this fall so the course will be ready for the next summer.

had a word from the doctor—the doctor says it must be serious this time. I've been to the midnight train. Anything I can do for you while I'm in the city, O'line? Or for you, Nan?"

"You can't do me any good with you!" Nan Fossdick said, throwing up her head defiantly. "I—I can't stay here another hour!"

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 19—"My baby had eczema for three months and nothing seemed to do him any good until I tried your product. His cheeks were red and covered with blisters, and the itching was so annoying that he could not sleep. After reading your ad in the paper I purchased a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap. Only a few applications stopped the itching entirely and within a week the redness was gone and his skin practically clear. Your ointment is really wonderful and I will praise it to everyone." # ACUTE SHORTAGE OF LEMONS REPORTED BY LOCAL DEALERS

Tomatoes Go to Other Extreme and Are "Flooding" the Market

One thing that the housewife will notice as she goes about her weekend shopping is that lemons are scarce and that the few to be found on the market are almost worth their weight in gold. The most acute shortage of lemons in dealers is reported by those who were in Chicago during the week reported that a crate of 300 lemons was selling at $2.20, and that there were not more than 25 crates in the Chicago warehouses. The torrid heat the last few days and the unseasonable weather the past summer, together with the demand, is blamed for the shortage.

Tomatoes, on the contrary, are plentiful and selling for much less than they did a few weeks ago. Dealers report that the market is being flooded with tomatoes and that indications are that the prices will go lower. Apart from these two extremes the fruit and vegetable market is about the same as in past weeks. Sweet corn is selling lower than it did earlier in the month and the warm weather is bringing the crop nearer normal.

Fruit prices show pears selling at from 25 to 60 cents a dozen; set pears for spicing and pickling, 75 cents a peck; bananas 4 pounds for 25 cents; green grapes, 10 cents a pound; Jonathans apples, 3 pounds for 25 cents; Whitney crabapples, 50 cents a peck; Duchesse apples, 50 cents a peck; home grown cantaloupes, 10 cents a peck; cantaloupes, 20 to 25 cents a peck; plums 15 to 20 cents a dozen; peaches (Colorado), $1.25 and $2.75 a crate; Michigan peaches, $3.00 a crate; grape fruit, 15 cents a peck; oranges, 50 to 55 cents a dozen; and honey dew melons 35 cents a dozen. One dealer who had bought a half crate of lemons early in the week sold them on Friday at 7 cents a peck or 3 for 20 cents.

MISS KIPPENHAM OPENS MUSIC STUDIO IN CITY

Miss Emma Kippenham has opened a studio at 215 N. Appleton-st. where she will teach the Dunning system of improved music study for beginners. Classes opened Tuesday.

Miss Kippenham received a teacher's certificate from Lawrence Conservatory of music, studied piano under Fred Luedolph Arens, then of the piano department at the conservatory, and has completed a course in the Dunning system under L. A. Earnes, Chicago.

The system adapted to the teaching of all those wishing a thorough foundation of music but is planned especially for children and beginners. Miss Kippenham said. The originator of the system, Mrs. Carrie L. Dunning, Buffalo, N. Y., studied a number of years in Europe with Fraulein, Prentner, and Letchevitzky, Vienna instructors. The aim is to train the mind to think musically and consecutively.

ERECT NEW SIGNS

Workers have erected a new sign on the Fischer jewelry store building on the corner of Oneida-st and College-ave. The name of the store has been changed from F. C. Hyde and Company to Fischer's jewelry store and the change in the sign will carry the name Fischer's in place of Hyde's. The signs around the store are also being changed. Otto Fischer, now proprietor of the store, bought the business from the F. C. Hyde and Company last April.

America's Constitution

No. 5

EDITOR'S NOTE: An analysis of the purpose and plan of the Constitution is contained in this article, the fifth of a series of 12 stories in keeping with Constitution Week. Tomorrow: The Constitution's Vesting of Powers.

BY JIMMY ATWOOD
President Constitution Anniversary Association

For the successful accomplishment of a desired project, it is important to know as nearly as possible what is to be achieved. History records no finer illustration of a clear concept of the aims sought and of the results desired from an undertaking than this remarkable pronouncement of the purposes set forth in the preamble to the Constitution of the United States.

"We the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

This preamble is a sublime, a comprehensive, and an accurate statement of the purposes of government. Every proper governmental activity can be classified under one or more of the six great purposes set forth in it.

For some unaccountable reason there has been a disposition not to attach to the preamble the significance which it possesses. It is highly important, because the Constitution was dedicated to the six purposes set forth in the preamble and to no other purposes.

It is proper to assume that, in the making or interpreting or enforcing of laws, public officials should ask themselves: Is this law being made or interpreted or enforced in accordance with one or more of the six purposes set forth in the preamble? Such a test adhered to would greatly improve the functioning of our government.

Prior to the writing of this preamble, there cannot be found a good, brief, clear comprehensive statement of the purposes of government, though one may have access to all that was said by Socrates, Plato, Aristotle, Confucius, or Montesquieu and all that was ever said by any individual or group of individuals in any country, including our own, before that time.

INFLUENCE FOR PEACE
This fact is a striking illustration of what a vague science government had been before the Constitution was written. Not even a good statement of the purposes of government had been made, to say nothing of providing a vision for punishment thereof.

Article IV
8—Relation of the states to each other.
9—Relation of the federal government to states and territories.
Article V
10—Provision for amending the Constitution whenever necessary.
Article VI
11—Provision for national debts.
12—Provisions for the supremacy of the federal Constitution, national laws, and treaties.
13—Provision to pledge all national and state officers to uphold the Constitution of the United States.
14—Ban on religious test as qualification to public office.
Article VII
15—Method for ratification.

PLANNED MECHANISM
This is a brief analysis of the plan of the Constitution and a skeleton outline of its contents.
One can readily see that it is not merely a statement of right or principle, but is a plan for setting up a mechanism to administer a government.
The right mental condition for a real understanding and just appreciation of the purpose and plan of the Constitution is to regard each one of the 15 elements set forth in this outline as a part of an excellent plan for government, just as each one of the ten digits, and each note in the scale of music is a part of an excellent plan.

Children's Playgrounds Are Direct Social Boon

Madison—Playgrounds for children at school and at home, are lowering the crime rate and lessening the number of accidents, incident to children playing in the streets. These are some of the facts stressed in a health committee bulletin issued by the state medical society.

The bulletin declares that comparative figures are available from a number of cities, which have made use of the playgrounds in the past few years and points out that in Milwaukee the results achieved are outstanding for the benefits obtained. "Children need large playgrounds at school, but they also need places to play away from the streets, while at home," continues the bulletin. "There should be places where the older children can romp and engage in games and there should be little openings close to the home, where the tots can poke and crawl around in sand boxes. In both places they get the sunlight and air; they have companions that some supervisor or the mother can approve and they are away from the streets, where the possibility of an accident is always menacing. Of the 2,000 automobile accidents in this country daily, and a majority of them injuring children, most of them could be prevented and surely many of them if children are kept off the street."

"Summer playgrounds for children are accomplishing a good that dollars and cents can never measure. The value of playgrounds in keeping boys from running about of the law by the spirit of fairness, team play and has proved so many times that al-

ELECTRICITY ON FARMS NOW CHECKING EXODUS

Madison—(AP)—Improvement of the advantages of farm life by increased use of electricity has already checked the exodus from the farm to the city, in the opinion of C. V. Rock, chairman of the rural electric service committee of the Wisconsin Utilities association.

Mr. Rock told members of the electrical section of the association at the meeting last week-end, the Madison meeting of the Wisconsin Utilities association.

The farm electrification expert declares that there now are 75 separate uses of electricity being made on farms in Wisconsin. Of that number 31 metered uses constitute household services directly affecting standards of living.

About 15,000 students from India are studying in schools and colleges of Great Britain.

able outgrowth of the well managed playground. "The child at play is out of mischief. The child in the open engaging in some energetic sport is laying the foundation for a healthy mind and body. The city playground, the school ground, when supervised teach lessons of courage, endurance and health which books cannot teach."

PURITY LEAGUE TO HOLD MEETING AT LA CROSSE

Madison—(AP)—The twelfth International Purity conference will meet in La Crosse, Oct. 18, 19, 20, and will be attended by representatives of well-known organizations from all over the world. The meeting is open to anyone interested in sex hygiene, temperance, the fight against commercialized vice and the promotion of high standards of morals, according to announcement made by B. S. Steadwell, president of the World's Purity Federation whose headquarters are in La Crosse. One matter which the conference will discuss is that of holding a world congress within the next year or two. Proclamations covering the leading phases of the Federation's work will be formulated which will call attention to the present-day tendencies which are thought to be promoting both private and public immorality.

OAK GROVE the most appetizing margarine you can use

APPETIZING at breakfast... crisp toast or waffles spread with Oak Grove. Appetizing at lunch... hot, golden brown muffins and Oak Grove Margarine. Appetizing at dinner... a lump of Oak Grove Margarine on the mashed potatoes, melted and poured over the vegetables just before serving, added to the pan gravy when the steak comes on the table!

The whole family will like Oak Grove Margarine. It is sweet and of delicate flavor. It spreads smoothly without crumbling on bread. Used as a shortening it gives the tenderest, most delicate texture to cakes, pies and pastries. Oak Grove is made under United States government inspection. It is delivered to your grocer daily, fresh and pure. So sure are we that you will like it, that your grocer will refund your money if you feel Oak Grove isn't the very best margarine you can buy.

OAK GROVE WAFFLES
(All level measurements)
2 cups sifted flour, 2 cups milk, 2 whole eggs, 1 teaspoonful salt, 3 teaspoonfuls baking powder, 4 tablespoonfuls melted Oak Grove Oleomargarine.
Mix and sift the dry ingredients. Separate the eggs. Add the milk to the yolks; then add the liquid slowly to the flour. Beat with spoon and then with Dover egg beater. Add the melted oleomargarine and fold in the egg whites beaten stiff and dry. Preheat waffle iron for at least five minutes before beginning to bake. Bake waffles for five minutes or until crisp and golden brown. Serve with Oak Grove Oleomargarine.

How High Will The Thermometer Go To-morrow?

That is a question a very few of us can answer. Only those scientists who are constantly studying atmospheric conditions can tell with any certainty, what the weather will be tomorrow.

Because those men have spent the greater part of their life studying the cause and effect of weather changes, they can predict with almost absolute accuracy, just how the weather will be tomorrow.

NCHEON CLUBS TO HAVE JOINT PICNIC

If Tournament Will Be Part of Program at Lions Club Outing

Members of the Appleton Lions club will join the Oshkosh and Fond du Lac clubs in a picnic at Menominee on Oshkosh Sunday. Golf fours from the three clubs probably will be enlisted for a tournament as a special feature of the day. Frank Anger, president of the club, announced.

Tennis, trap shooting, horseback, baseball and other games will be played. Golfers will go to Oshkosh early morning and the other players and their families will gather at the park at 1:30 in the afternoon. A program of games and contests will follow a basket lunch at noon.

This picnic is the first joint event of the clubs since the howling tourneys in Oshkosh and Fond du Lac last winter. At least 125 Lions from three cities are expected. Picnic headquarters will be at the Oshkosh club. The first events of the day are scheduled for 8:30 in the morning and the picnic will end about 4:30 p.m. in the afternoon.

SEALED BIDS RECEIVED FOR THREE SEWER JOBS

Sealed bids for three sewer jobs received by E. L. Williams, city engineer, up to 12 o'clock Thursday. Only two companies, Tomason Construction company of Fond du Lac and R. J. Wilson of Appleton, submitted estimates. The bids were opened and tabulated by the board of public works at a meeting held before noon Wednesday night. The common council meets, and when the contract probably will be let. The three jobs are Sprucewood from College-ave. 140 feet southward from College-ave to Franklin-ave and for a sewer at the Roosevelt school.

ANY APPLETON FANS TO ATTEND BIG BOUT

At least 27 Appleton sport fans will witness the Dempsey-Tunney fight at Chicago next week. George T. Prim, chief of police, Thursday received many tickets which he had purchased through Michael Hughes, superintendent of police at Chicago and personal friend of Chief Prim. Of 27 tickets, 13 were $25 seats; 6 were $20 seats; and 8 were $10 seats. The $25 seats are in Row 1, Section 8. The $20 seats are in Row 1, Section 9. The $10 seats are in Row 1, Section 10. An examination of the ticket charts shows that all the Appleton men have secured very good seats.

H. S. PLANS FOOTBALL TICKET SALE CAMPAIGN

Plans for the annual football season ticket campaign from Sept. 26 to Oct. 10 have been started at Appleton high school. Members of the senior class will sponsor the drive and will have charge of the pep session on Friday night, Sept. 30 to prepare for the first home game of the season Saturday Oct. 1 at Fond du Lac high school.

Football games have been scheduled: Fond du Lac East Green Day high school, Oct. 15; Sheboygan, Oct. 22; Kaukauna, Nov. 12. J. Raymond Walsh, faculty athletic manager, is making plans for printing and distribution season tickets and advertising posters.

REWARD IS OFFERED FOR RECOVERY OF CAR

A reward is offered for information which will lead to the recovery of a Ford coupe, 1926 model, of a Wisconsin license, 15 according to a word received Friday morning by the Appleton police department. The car has the license number B-116-200. It is equipped with a spare tire in a rear carrier and the corner was broken from the glass in the left door. Anyone having information about the car is asked to notify R. C. H. H. Baker, 620 Baker-st., Wisconsin Rapids.

ORCHESTRAS TO PLAY FOR MID-WEST TITLE

The Midnight Serenaders of Des Moines has been engaged to play at Waverly beach dance pavilion Friday and Saturday and all next week. The band is directed by its manager, ending to Charles Maloney, manager. Next week will be the last week of the season at the beach and the Mid-West Serenaders have been engaged to furnish music for the final week. The band will be closed for the winter, Sunday, Sept. 25.

One of the features of the last week will be a contest for the best band in the middle west between the Maricord Serenaders and the Lake Terrace Garden orchestra. The two bands will play a continuous program, Saturday evening, Sept. 24.

30 EMPLOYEES ATTEND PROMOTION MEETING

Thirty agents and members of the Washington conference from Appleton, Green Lake, New London and Hilbert attended a sales promotion meeting Thursday evening at the Conway hotel. ## K. P.'S TO HOLD DANCE PARTY IN OCTOBER

The first social of the season to be given by Knights of Pythias will be a dancing and card party for Knights and Pythian Sisters to be held sometime in October. It was decided at the regular weekly meeting of the Knights of Pythias Thursday night in Castle hall, Fred Schmitt was appointed chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the affair.

It was decided to hold three parties about every two months. The affairs will be in the form of dinner dances, programs and card parties.

E. F. U. MEMBERS AT THIRTIETH NATAL PICNIC

Several local members of the Equitable Fraternal union attended the picnic and dancing party Thursday at Appleton. The picnic was held in honor of the thirtieth anniversary of the founding of the union. The picnic was held throughout the day at Neenah park and in the evening a class of about 50 candidates was initiated at E. F. U. hall.

A tug-of-war, baseball game, stunts and games furnished entertainment for the children and grownups at the picnic. A picnic supper was served at 6 o'clock. Following the initiation of candidates, a program of singing and recitations was given by the Green Bay branch. Dancing followed the program.

A meeting of district representatives was held Friday at E. F. U. hall when a school of instruction and a sales meeting were held. Dinner was served for the district representatives in the evening at Valley Inn. Mrs. Helen Caldwell of Appleton, the new district representative in Outagamie co., attended the meeting.

BANK BANDIT CAUGHT AFTER HARD BATTLE

struck the bandit with the butt of his revolver directly between the eyes. McClintic fell, but was up in an instant saying:

"Don't hit me again; I'm just a roamer here and I'm drunk."

Having been informed by the woman who operates the rooming house that one roamer had not yet come in, the officers hesitated to shoot for fear it might be another roamer.

Hearing the disturbance Mrs. Sophia Hanks, the rooming house operator, went to the room. McClintic asked for it, first said: "That's just the roamer," then, as he got a better look at McClintic, "It's the robber."

FIGHTS DESPERATELY

McClintic then began his fight. The robber had been aside, out of the robber's reach. Repeatedly Dave crashed McClintic with blows of his fists. The robber again and again, using broken chair legs, revolver butts and anything that came to his hands.

Carlson, disengaging himself momentarily, jumped to a nearby phone to call for aid. Held fast down on a davenport as the additional officers arrived, McClintic still held cuffs and continued even as his arms were twisted by the police. He fought until he almost lost consciousness.

Finally he was loaded into a police car, taken to the station and a physician was called. The doctor found 11 gunshot wounds in his face and 8 cuts on his head. The officers were scratched, bruised and bitten by the bandit.

One of McClintic's first statements was: "I didn't get half of what I deserved. I wish you had killed me. It would have been better. I wish you had shot it out with me."

He expressed concern for his partner, who he said, "a respectable man" in Ft. Wayne, Ind.

BEHELD HUNT ABANDONED

He told officers he knew the house was being guarded after police found that the man who robbed the bank lived there, but that he had seen two officers leave and thought the hunt was being abandoned. The officers saw a man, who later turned out to be McClintic, passing the house two or three times and McClintic said he was looking the place over to ascertain whether the guard was on before he entered.

McClintic said he had gone from here to Milwaukee after the robbery, thence by boat to Chicago where he found his wounds dressed and attention given a tooth that had been partly shot out by the posse.

Only $68 of the bank loot was found in McClintic's possession, the greater part of $22,000 having been used to purchase a used car in Chicago Thursday, he said.

McClintic left Chicago shortly after 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon to drive here and attempt to recover his clothes, left in the Hanks home.

The shot wounds verified the police theory of his injury, formed after the car he stole was found to contain his bloodstained mask, perforated with many shrapnel wounds. One of his teeth was also found in the car.

WORK IS STARTED ON CURB CONSTRUCTION

Construction of curbs for the paving of Jackson-st. was started this week by the E. P. Coughlin Construction company of Chicago, which has the contract for the work. As soon as the curbs are finished the road will be graded and laying of the pavement will be started.

The street department last week completed cutting away the hillside for the new road which will be on the north side of the railroad tracks on W. Washington-st. The road on the north side of the tracks eliminates a double crossing of the railroad tracks.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kral, of Black Creek were in Milwaukee Thursday.

FÄVILLE MEMORIAL SERVICE ON SUNDAY

Address Will Be Given by Representatives of Churches and Civic Groups

A memorial service for Dr. John Faville, who was pastor of the local First Congregational church for 22 years, will be held at 7:30 Sunday evening at the Congregational church under the auspices of the Men's Sunday Morning club. G. E. Buchanan will preside at the service.

Brief addresses from representatives of the churches and other civic bodies in the city will be given. The program will open with the prelude, "Largo" by Handel. A hymn, "The Son of God Goes Forth to War," will be sung and the Rev. H. E. Penabody, pastor of First Congregational church will read the scripture and prayer.

Frank J. Harwood will give an address for the Congregational church and Mayor Albert C. Rule will represent the city government.

Dr. "Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled," by Harris, will be sung by C. J. Waterman and J. R. Walsh. Representatives of other churches who will give addresses are Gustave C. Keller and Julius Frank. Dr. Wilson S. Taylor will give an address. C. J. Waterman will sing a solo, "Crossing the Bar" by August Lawrence college and will Buck and talks for the fraternal orders will be given by Mark Catlin, George H. Packard, A. A. Wetzel and William F. Saeker. A hymn "These Things Shall Be" will be sung and the program will close with the postlude, "Dead March" from Saul, by Handel.

WOMAN GETS DIVORCE ON CRUELTY CHARGE

Mrs. Anna Doeing Awarded $20 Alimony from Her Husband, Bradford Doeing

Anna Doeing was granted a divorce from her husband Bradford Doeing by Judge Theodore Egan in municipal court Friday morning. She was also given possession of an automobile, $20 per month alimony and the defendant was ordered to pay all costs of the action. Mrs. Doeing in her complaint alleged cruel and inhuman treatment. She told of several beatings administered by her husband. Mrs. John Evers, mother of Mrs. Doeing, told how Mrs. Doeing came home on the night of Aug. 21, with a black eye and bruises about her face where it was alleged her husband had struck her.

Mr. Doeing claimed that his wife had started to scream and when he placed his hand over her mouth to silence her she bit him and it was necessary for him to strike her to make her let go. Mrs. Doeing alleged that since their marriage they had lived at the home of her husband's parents on the School Section-rd and that she had been forced to seek employment so that she could buy clothes.

The Doings were married at Menominee, Mich., May 11, 1925, but they parted in June.

POSTPONE TENNIS TOURNAMENT FOR BOYS

The tennis tournament for the junior championship of Appleton, sponsored by the Y. M. C. A., which was to have started Saturday, has been indefinitely postponed according to A. P. Jensen, association physical director. Mr. Jensen said. The meet was open to all boys of Appleton and it was to have been held on two successive Saturdays, Sept. 17 and 24.

DEMONSTRATION GIVEN IN COOKING METHODS

Cooking under steam pressure was demonstrated by Miss Edna Hoffman, of the University of Wisconsin extension, to a class of women living near Appleton. The demonstration was given at the home of Mrs. Frank Letts, on at 4 Thursday. About 200 women attended the demonstration.

A dinner was cooked in the morning and canning was done in the afternoon, using steam cooker.

NEW TEACHERS HIRED FOR CITY'S SCHOOLS

Two new teachers started work in Appleton high schools this week. George Cooper will teach manual arts at the senior high school in the place of Robert Grant, who was released from his contract with the local schools to teach at Oshkosh Normal school. Mr. Grant was given a leave of absence the second semester last year to do part time teaching at the Oshkosh school and to complete work for a degree.

Robert Alexander, a senior at Lawrence college, will do part time teaching at the Roosevelt school and finish work for his degree at the local college. Increased enrollment at the Roosevelt school demanded another teacher. Mr. Alexander will teach history, English and mathematics.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all the neighbors and friends, to the Fraternal Order of Eagles, the Sacred Heart and Holy Name societies for the many spiritual and floral offerings and kind assistance rendered in our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved son and brother, Adolph Schrimpf.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schrimpf, Sr., and family, adv.

MISS CLARA HERB

Miss Clara Herb, 55, died Wednesday at the home of her brother, Rev. Paul Herb, Stockbridge, after a lingering illness. Miss Herb formerly lived in Appleton. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 Saturday at the Sorrowful Mother church, Stockbridge. The body will be brought to Appleton for interment in the Appleton cemetery. The services at the Appleton cemetery probably will be held at 11:30 Saturday morning.

VISITING PASTORS CONDUCT SERVICES

Four visiting pastors will conduct the services of the St. Paul Lutheran church Sunday at the 1927 annual mission festival of the church, according to the Rev. F. M. Brandt, assistant pastor. Two English services will be held at 8 o'clock in the morning and 7:45 in the evening and two German services will be held at 10:15 in the morning and 2:30 in the afternoon. The collections for the church's missions will be taken at the services.

The Rev. Adolph Spiering of New London will be in charge of the morning English service and the Rev. H. Kleinhans of Oshkosh will conduct the evening English service. The Rev. Greve of Jordan, Minn., will have charge of the morning German service with the Rev. John Masch of Black Creek handling the afternoon German program.

FARMER ARRESTED ON PURCHASER'S PLANT

Henry Grapengeter was arraigned before Judge Theodore Egan Thursday morning on a charge of selling property on which there was a mechanics lien, without mentioning the incumbrance to the purchaser. Grapengeter was released on $500 bonds and he will appear for preliminary hearing Saturday morning. Alvin A. Schulze, of Greenville, is the complainant. He alleges he purchased a 200-acre farm from Grapengeter in the town of Greenville but that Grapengeter had failed to mention a lien on the property held by the Hettlinger Lumber company of Appleton.

Grapengeter was arrested by Sheriff Otto Zuehlke Thursday afternoon. The lien held by the lumber company was purchased by Grapengeter in 1925. The total amount of the bill is about $175.

Y. M. C. A. MEMBERS INVITED TO DINNER

Members of the Y. M. C. A. have been invited to attend a complimentary dinner at the association at 615 Friday evening to plan for the 1927 membership drive, which will be held Sept. 26 to 30, inclusive.

Division chairmen probably will choose their captains and the goal of the drive in money and members will be set. R. E. Osborn is chairman of the membership committee and R. M. Eickmeier is membership secretary.

The boys' drive will be held simultaneously with the men's campaign this year, the boys' work committee recently decided. The chairmen of the two boys' divisions in the drive will choose their team captains before next Tuesday.

FIRST NATIONAL AIR DERBY TO START WEST FROM NEW YORK

Military Dream of 1915 Will Be Realized by Commercial Type Planes

New York—(AP)—A dream that had its inception back in 1915 will be realized this month when a caravan of airplanes starts westward from New York in the first National Air Derby on Sept. 12.

Before the event is concluded on Sept. 21 the racing planes will have spanned the continent, from Roosevelt Field, L. I., to the finish line in Spokane, Wash.

Tentative plans for an air derby, proposed 12 years ago, had to be abandoned when many of the military planes that would have been the mainstay of the contest were required on the Mexican border. The situation was little changed in the next year, and in 1917 came the war. Last year saw the Philadelphia sesquicentennial race.

IN TWO CLASSES
Significance of the onward sweep of commercial aviation is the fact that this first air derby is not dependent upon the entries of military planes. In fact, the two classes into which the event is divided permits only of the entry of machines of the commercial type.

Class A is for large planes capable of carrying two passengers, besides the pilot. Class B is for planes capable of carrying one passenger besides the pilot. The conditions of the flight are made to conform as far as possible to the conditions of commercial navigation.

At about the same time another event, the Pacific Coast Air Derby, will start a group of planes winging northward from San Francisco to Spokane. This race is also for commercial planes and is similarly divided into two classes.

Prizes aggregating $25,000 are offered by the National Air Derby association in the transcontinental flights. Prizes of $5,000 will go to the leading planes in west coast contests.

WEATHER PLAYS PART
Weather may play its share in determining the starting time of the flight, but the transcontinental Class B race, which will require three days, is scheduled to begin in the early morning of Sept. 12.

On the first day five-minute stops will be made at Bellefonte, Pa., Cleveland and Bryan, Ohio. The first night will be passed at Chicago. Calls will be made on the second day at St. Paul, Minn., and at Fargo and Bismarck, N. D. The second night will be spent at Glendive, Montana. On the final day stops will be made at Billings and Missoula, Montana and the finish will be at the Spokane airport.

The larger planes will require only two days, taking off early in the morning from Roosevelt Field on Sept. 20. They will cover the distance in seven hops. Five minute calls will be made at Cleveland and Chicago and the night will be passed at St. Paul. On the following morning they will push on to Aberdeen, S. D., and Miles City and Butte, Montana, the only places to be visited before the race ends in Spokane.

The lifetime of a good watch, experts say, is 50 years. The balance and hair-spring vibrate 157,000,000 times a year, while an equal number of ticks come from the escapement.

PHOTOGRAPH INDIAN MOUND FROM 'PLANE

Kenosha—(AP)—The large Indian mound near here is the first to be photographed from an airplane. A reproduction of the picture and of detailed ones showing the water-spirit or panther shaped mounds is to appear in the forthcoming issue of the Wisconsin archaeological, according to Prof. Charles E. Brown, director of the state historical museum at Madison.

The tail of this panther-shaped prehistoric burial place lies directly across the principal highway from Chicago, and thousands of motorists cross it annually without being aware of its existence. It lies five and one half miles south of Burlington on highway 53, in Kenosha county.

As early as 1859 Dr. Increase A. Lapham, Wisconsin's first distinguished scientist, noted this mound while making a geological survey of the state.

Formerly, in attempts to get a complete picture of Indian mounds, they were outlined in powdered lime and then photographed from branches of nearby trees. The recent airplane picture is the work of C. W. Beemer, a member of the Wisconsin Archeological society.

New Floor At White House In $375,000 Repair Bill

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—There seems to be some confusion as to just what was done to repair the White House at public expense of $375,000.

The fact is that not only has the White House been given a handsome new roof, but it also has acquired a new floor. In other words instead of being a two-story building, as in the past, it is now a three-story building.

Furthermore, the new roof is so designed as to leave a large area on which the president can promenade or entertain.

These are the principal changes in the White House and it becomes obvious that the facilities and occupable portions of the presidential mansion have been greatly expanded.

Whether or not this expansion was as important an aim of the "repair work" as any is a question, but the roof structure and its supporting wooden trusses more than 100 years old have been understood to be in poor condition for the last 50 years.

The new third floor of the White House contains a number of comfortable bedrooms and bathrooms which will now be available for an overflow of guests. It also provides rooms for servants, linen rooms and storage rooms.

All this, of course, and everything including the ceiling of the second floor and upwards is brand new. That's where most of the $375,000 went. The second floor provides the living quarters for Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge. Even while Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge are away, and all their possessions and furniture are removed, visitors are not permitted above the first or main floors.

Indeed, only the most privileged have been permitted within 100 yards of the White House this summer. It was suggested to the Coolidges at Rapid City that this might be a good time to allow some people who were anxious about it to inspect the second floor and the roof, but word came from Rapid City that this was not desirable.

The exclusiveness of the upper White House is officially explained with the theory that the portion above the main floor is not public property and that it is the only retreat the presidential families have from the glaring limelight which always beats upon them. Mrs. Coolidge, for similar reasons, has objected also to photographs of the little gardens on the south portico in which she and the president enjoy walking in intimate privacy.

When the builders went to work on the White House last spring the space above the second floor was attic space. There were a few cubby hole rooms for servants, but very small because they had to be built in between the trusses. But the up-and-down space occupied by the new floor was principally taken up by several feet of space between the second story ceiling and the floor of the attic.

This space was devoted to nothing more than a drainage system for the roof. With that system, considerable machinery was necessary as the drainage was carried in through the attic to downspouts in hollowed wooden troughs.

By utilizing all this space the treasury's supervising architects were able to retain virtually the original appearance of the White House and the renovated White House is less than a foot higher than before.

The so-called "roof garden" atop the building is a large flat area paved with tile which can be used for anything from dances to open-air sleeping. It commands a splendid view of the White House grounds, the beautiful Potomac park system and the Potomac river. The contour of the roof is almost the same, except that it has more corner space. But it is a much

THE NEGLECTED PAINT CAN

RIGHT in front of him lay a neglected paint can. Frederick Walton found himself aimlessly kneading the dry paint encrusted on the can. Eureka! He had made a great discovery; the linseed oil in the paint, converted into an elastic state by oxidation, made an ideal foundation for an entirely new type of floor covering!

In 1863 he patented his new product and christened it "Linoleum"—(from "linum"—flax; and "oleum"—oil; for linseed oil, the chief ingredient of the new floor covering is obtained from the flaxseed).

Joseph Wild brought Frederick Walton to the U. S. A., to supervise the manufacture of the first linoleum in America—Wild's Linoleum.

To this day, Wild's has remained the first linoleum in America—first in improvements, first in wearing quality, first in style. Recently a great variety of new Wild patterns has been introduced. Come in and see them.

better and safer roof and also much more attractive.

There have been no changes on the second floor except for redecoration made necessary by the very extensive operations above—which, incidentally, necessitated a thorough cleaning of the whole White House as well as a new coat of paint outside.

On the main floor, the walls of the Red Room and the Green Room have been recovered with damask—the old coverings having become faded.
